

GEORGE NAVARRO

WHEN SHE'S DRINKIN'

George Navarro is a young artist, born in Chihuahua, Mexico and though being young in years, he already has a decades-long heritage of music and performing with his father and uncles Latin Grammy-winning band, Caballo Dorado. Leaving his home, family and country in search of a solo country music career in the United States landed him at his new home away from home in Fort Worth and most recently recording in a studio in Nashville.

The U.S. country music scene is exactly where George wants to be and where he belongs. While gaining experience on lead and acoustic guitar, he continues to add instruments to his ever-growing musical holster, and is also an accomplished bass, fiddle and mandolin player. George's biggest asset comes in the form of his signature vocals with his warm tone and wide vocal range he has the ability to perform emotional ballads to country rock anthems with ease.

Country music fans can hear George's original songs co-written with some of Nashville's elite writers, including Phil O'Donnell, Wade Kirby, Brett Jones, Mark Nesler, Carson Chamberlain and others in preparation for his new EP expected to release Summer 2020. The first single titled "When She's Drinkin'" (May 15, 2020) showcases George's versatility and will get fans singing and dancing.
